Picnic at Fort Massac.
A party of young people went to Metropolis yesterday on the George Cowling. On the way down they stopped at Fort Massac and the girls laid out a sumptuous feast. On motion of one of the party they all strolled over to the well, that was about 500 yards distant, to quench their thirst. On looking back to where the lunch had been left they spied four boys making off with it. The men started in pursuit and after running several hundred yards the fugitives dropped one of the boxes. Those in the party were: Misses Elsie Hodge, Alma Kopf, Brooks Smith, Corinne Winstead; Messrs. Harry Singleton, Will Rinkoff, Hall Williams, of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Dismukes.

SCHOOL TEACHERS WILL MEET HERE MONDAY MORNING

Plans are maturing for the McCracken County School Teachers' Institute, which convenes in the circuit court room at the court house next Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The annual meeting will continue throughout the week, probably coming to a close on Friday afternoon. The programs for the five days' session have not yet been completed, but will be ready in a few days. The sessions will be in charge of Prof. T. J. Coates, superintendent of the public school at Richmond. He had charge of the institute last year and was a very able speaker. The program will be full of interesting addresses to be heard by the teachers and it is expected to have one of the largest institutes for some time.

There will be morning and afternoon sessions and singing will also be indulged in. Blackboard talks and lectures upon different lines of school work in the county schools will be pleasant features of the meeting. The teachers in attendance will have an opportunity of asking or answering vital questions concerning school work.

On Thursday, August 12, the county school trustees will attend the institute, the day being observed as "trustees day." The trustees will be asked questions and may have opportunity of asking questions.

Mr. Wolfe has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Charles Miller. He was in the best of health and his death will be a great shock to his relatives and many friends. Mr. Wolfe was 70 years old and on account of his old age the awful shock killed him instantly. On account of his deafness he probably could not hear the machine coming.

Mr. Wolfe was born in Pennsylvania and came to Paducah a good many years ago, engaging in the Sheet Metal works with his son, Mr. E. C. Wolfe.

He was a high Mason and well known in this section of Kentucky. Mr. E. C. Wolfe will leave this evening for Belvidere and the funeral arrangements will be made tomorrow.

C. Q. D. Signals Are Sent Out to Ships Bearing Merchandise From Europe by Consignees of Cargoes

Desire to Rush Foreign Liquor Into the Country to Save Thousands of Dollars Additional Duty.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The tariff bill passed the senate today at 1:10.

Leather and Cotton Bagging.

Washington, Aug. 5.—If President Taft signs tariff bill this afternoon as expected, it will go into force tomorrow morning as soon as the customs offices open, exclusive of the leather schedules, which go into effect in October by special provision. The senate will vote on the bill this afternoon and certainly will pass the concurrent resolution, correcting the leather schedule presented in the house this afternoon, also embodying changes of cotton bagging and grain sacks to the free list.

The conference report on the urgent deficiency bill adopted by the house yesterday, passed the senate today without debate. Senator Flint, of California, member of the finance committee, opened the final day of the tariff debate, explaining the schedule on clothing, trying to prove it a decrease instead of an increase. Dolliver, of Iowa, denounced the entire tariff proceedings.

C. Q. D. Messages.

New York, Aug. 5.—Commercial C. Q. D. messages are being sent to many vessels at sea, telling the captains to make all possible speed in getting into port. Ship owners desire their ships to reach port before Taft signs the tariff bill, thereby saving thousands of dollars. Many vessels are loaded with wine and brandies on which the new tariff is a heavy duty. The bill will become a law this afternoon.

The Marconi and the United Wireless Telegraph company report handling many messages to captains at sea, telling them to rush into port. The Pennsylvania, of the Hamburg-American line, is bringing 3,000 tons of German wines. Importers declare if the vessel beats the tariff it will save the owners of wine $10,000 on duty. Others sent similar messages are the Teutonic, Raglan, and the Valparaiso, from South America, Canaguri from Cienfuegos, the Florida from Havre and St. Andrew from Allegheny. Big bonuses are promised by several shippers if they beat the tariff.

Grand Concert Tonight

Wallace Park Casino

In the Children's Chorus which will be held at the Casino tonight, the Paducah public will have the privilege of hearing the same class of music that the largest cities in the east enjoy. At a recent musical festival in Patterson, N. J., Mr. Gilbert by Paducah audiences before, 1212 bert assisted in work of this kind, and the result was so gratifying that he decided to attempt something of the kind in Paducah, and the interest and intelligence with which the children sing the most difficult choruses has more than gratified his efforts. Rehearsals have been progressing for the past three weeks, and the enthusiasm and growing action of the children in this work is the best argument for the organization of a permanent singing society among the young people. This will also be Mr. Gilbert's first appearance since his return from New York, where his genius and ability as a pianist has been appreciated in the very highest musical circles, and it will be with renewed and double interest that his friends will hear him tonight. Mr. Gilbert will also be assisted by Mr. Wm. Reddick and Mr. Richard Loeb, who have been heard with pleasure by Paducah audiences before.

Four vacancies in police force

Last night's meeting of the board of police and fire commissioners proved a surprise in many respects. It was known that Fireman Bonnin and Patrolman Morris had resigned, and that charges were preferred against Fireman Harry Robinson; but when the board met in secret session there were other things doing.

The cases of Patrolman Hurley and Johnson were first called up. Both are physically incapacitated, and while every member of the board, as well as Mayor Smith and Chief Collins, expressed regret at the necessity for giving them discharges, Mayor Smith summed up the situation in his own words. He said if it was the money of the commissioners they might pension the officers; but since it is a trust fund for the pay of policemen, employed to protect taxpayers, the board has no right to consider anything, excepting that of giving the taxpayers what they are paying for. Honorable discharges were accorded the retiring patrolmen, who have been ill a long while.

Vote Unanimous.

The cases of Baker, Langston and Morris were taken up, and with the exception of one case, the vote was unanimous.

There was a division when it came to filling the places.

Will Walker is known as a Democrat.

Fireman Bonnin had resigned; Patrolman Morris left his beat and disappeared one night, sending a note of resignation to the chief; Harry Robinson's trouble came from an incident while off duty, in which he got into police court.

The board will meet again Monday night to fill the vacancies on the police court. Complaints have been received against other members of the police force; but whether they will be let off Monday night, is not known.

Chief James J. Wood, of the fire department, was granted a week's leave of absence and will attend the annual convention of the National Fire Chief's association which meets in Detroit.

All of the old men let off last night were off duty today. Chief Collins will put on the new men at once.

Present last night: Commissioners Frank Rieke, Mann W. Clark, Dr. Frank Boyd and R. R. Sutherland.

Woman Uses Whip.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 5.—Sending him a message to meet her there, Mrs. E. C. Clyde Knight, a prominent society woman of Rome, Ga., went yesterday evening to Woodland park to await the coming of J. W. Lawhorn, a well known man of Spartanburg, S. C., who with his wife is staying at the same hotel with Mrs. Knight, confident that despite the driving rain he would come. Lawhorn came, but instead of a cordial greeting he got a severe castigation with a buggy whip piled by Mrs. Knight, who claims he had insulted her. His face was cut and bleeding as he ran for the hotel. Mrs. Knight followed leisurely, whip in hand, and there forced the man to make an apology in the presence of his wife. He then left town. Mrs. Knight spent her girlhood days on a farm and learned to handle a whip.

Mr. Robert Hodge has resigned as clerk at B. Well's and is now in Smithland, his former home.
